Description

SemiGen's RF/microwave quartz attenuator pads feature precise resistor films and superior metallization resulting in optimized performance. Our advanced thin-film technology provides full edge wrap metal for SMT installation with a complete grounded backside for ease in attachment, eliminating the need for additional ground bonding. Top side contacts are designed to support standard RF/microwave assembly techniques. Designed for commercial, military, and space applications, all values are available with MIL-PRF-38534, Class H or Class K Element evaluation.

Absolute Maximum Ratings^{1,2}

Parameter	Absolute Maximum
Power Dissipation ¹	70 °C/W
Mounting Temperature	+400°C for 5 seconds
Junction Temperature ^{2,3}	+150°C
Temperature Coefficient	±100ppm
Operating Temperature	-55°C to +150°C

1. Achieved at T^{CASE} = 25°C; Derated linearly to zero at 175°C.
*Note: 3X 0.001" Au wire bonds, each conductor.
2. Exceeding any one or combination of these limits may cause permanent damage to this device.
3. SemiGen does not recommend sustained operation near these survivability limits.
